CREATE CINEMATIC CONTENT.
BUILD YOUR DIGITAL WORLD.

[ ] The face matches the MASTER.

[ ] Skin tone, ethnicity, and age have not changed.

[ ] Body type and proportions match the full-body DNA sheet.

[ ] Hair, hairline, facial hair, and grooming are locked.

[ ] The camera sits in a believable real-world spot.

[ ] The dialogue fits naturally in the clip's length.

[ ] There is one main action and enough time for the reaction.

[ ] Hands and fingers show only when needed and move naturally.

[ ] Products keep their shape, label, cap, color, and placement.

[ ] Liquid, food, fabric, and hair move the way real things move.

[ ] Light sources and shadows match each other.

[ ] Background guests each do different things. No copies of the same person.

[ ] The setting shows where the scene takes place.

[ ] No prop appears, vanishes, or changes hands without a reason.

[ ] The first frame makes people curious right away.

[ ] The ending sets up a next action, question, or episode.

[ ] The scene still makes sense with the sound off.

[ ] The caption does not give away the mystery.

[ ] The content fits the creator's or brand's standards.

[ ] You would still stand behind the scene if a client, family member, or partner saw it.

Troubleshooting map

PROBLEM	LIKELY CAUSE	FIX
Face drift	Too many competing faces, or no clear top priority	Make identity Reference 1. Repeat the exact features. Remove people you do not need.
Plastic skin	Beauty wording or over-polished lighting	Ask for pores, skin texture, slight unevenness, and true phone color.
Robotic motion	Too many actions, or unclear acting directions	Use one action. Set the pauses. Direct the reaction.
Unreadable text	Text created inside moving footage	Keep any generated text short, or leave the surface blank.
Morphing product	No product reference, or no rules for the object	Use a product reference. Lock the shape, cap, label, direction, and who holds it.
Fake crowd	No guest count or actions given	Say how many people, where they are, and what each one is doing.
Impossible camera	No physical camera placement	Say the mount, the holder, the height, the distance, and the movement.
