BONUS 01

HOOK VAULT

120 opening-shot ideas for story-driven scenes.

CREATE THE CHARACTER. DIRECT THE SCENE. BUILD THE WORLD.

THE SCENE AI

CREATE CINEMATIC CONTENT.
BUILD YOUR DIGITAL WORLD.

Make your own hook first

A hook is the first three seconds of your video. It is one normal moment with one thing wrong. Use this recipe:

Start normal. Break one thing. Let the comments ask why.

The same recipe works in any niche

- Beauty: A client sits down and says, "Fix what she did."
- Real estate: The buyers walk in. Someone is already home.
- Fitness: The gym is empty except one machine. It is still running.
- Food: The order is ready. Nobody ordered it.
- Music: The beat stops. The crowd does not.

Now use the vault below. Pick a hook, then rewrite it with the recipe so it fits YOUR world. Do not copy it word for word.

The Hook Vault — 150 starters

001. “Excuse me, a guest asked me to bring this over.”

002. The bill arrives already paid.

003. Someone off-camera says the character’s full name.

004. The elevator opens to the wrong floor.

005. A friend whispers, “Do not turn around.”

006. The character is holding something they did not order.

007. A phone displays one message: “I’m downstairs.”

008. A server places an envelope beside the glass.

009. The character walks in while everyone is already seated.

010. A bag on the chair is not theirs.

© THE SCENE AI - Destyni Triplett. Member copy - not for resale or redistribution.

011. A stranger waves like they already know each other.

012. The camera catches the character deleting a post.

013. A notification changes the character's expression.

014. A product arrives before its official launch.

015. The character asks, "Who told you I was here?"

016. A hotel employee says, "Your other guest already checked in."

017. A stylist says, "That is not the outfit you're wearing."

018. A client asks one question that stops the room.

019. A door opens before anyone knocks.

020. A car waits with the character's name on the sign.

021. "Excuse me, a guest asked me to bring this over." - but nobody admits sending it.

022. The bill arrives already paid. - but nobody admits sending it.

023. Someone off-camera says the character's full name. - but nobody admits sending it.

024. The elevator opens to the wrong floor. - but nobody admits sending it.

025. A friend whispers, "Do not turn around." - but nobody admits sending it.

026. The character is holding something they did not order. - but nobody admits sending it.

027. A phone displays one message: "I'm downstairs." - but nobody admits sending it.

028. A server places an envelope beside the glass. - but nobody admits sending it.

029. The character walks in while everyone is already seated. - but nobody admits sending it.

030. A bag on the chair is not theirs. - but nobody admits sending it.

031. A stranger waves like they already know each other. - but nobody admits sending it.

032. The camera catches the character deleting a post. - but nobody admits sending it.

033. A notification changes the character's expression. - but nobody admits sending it.

034. A product arrives before its official launch. - but nobody admits sending it.

035. The character asks, "Who told you I was here?" - but nobody admits sending it.

036. A hotel employee says, "Your other guest already checked in." - but nobody admits sending it.

037. A stylist says, "That is not the outfit you're wearing." - but nobody admits sending it.

038. A client asks one question that stops the room. - but nobody admits sending it.

© THE SCENE AI - Destyni Triplett. Member copy - not for resale or redistribution.

039. A door opens before anyone knocks. - but nobody admits sending it.

040. A car waits with the character's name on the sign. - but nobody admits sending it.

041. "Excuse me, a guest asked me to bring this over." - and the character pretends this is normal.

042. The bill arrives already paid. - and the character pretends this is normal.

043. Someone off-camera says the character's full name. - and the character pretends this is normal.

044. The elevator opens to the wrong floor. - and the character pretends this is normal.

045. A friend whispers, "Do not turn around." - and the character pretends this is normal.

046. The character is holding something they did not order. - and the character pretends this is normal.

047. A phone displays one message: "I'm downstairs." - and the character pretends this is normal.

048. A server places an envelope beside the glass. - and the character pretends this is normal.

049. The character walks in while everyone is already seated. - and the character pretends this is normal.

050. A bag on the chair is not theirs. - and the character pretends this is normal.

051. A stranger waves like they already know each other. - and the character pretends this is normal.

052. The camera catches the character deleting a post. - and the character pretends this is normal.

053. A notification changes the character's expression. - and the character pretends this is normal.

054. A product arrives before its official launch. - and the character pretends this is normal.

055. The character asks, "Who told you I was here?" - and the character pretends this is normal.

056. A hotel employee says, "Your other guest already checked in." - and the character pretends this is normal.

057. A stylist says, "That is not the outfit you're wearing." - and the character pretends this is normal.

© THE SCENE AI - Destyni Triplett. Member copy - not for resale or redistribution.

058. A client asks one question that stops the room. - and the character pretends this is normal.

059. A door opens before anyone knocks. - and the character pretends this is normal.

060. A car waits with the character's name on the sign. - and the character pretends this is normal.

061. "Excuse me, a guest asked me to bring this over." - while someone watches from across the room.

062. The bill arrives already paid. - while someone watches from across the room.

063. Someone off-camera says the character's full name. - while someone watches from across the room.

064. The elevator opens to the wrong floor. - while someone watches from across the room.

065. A friend whispers, "Do not turn around." - while someone watches from across the room.

066. The character is holding something they did not order. - while someone watches from across the room.

067. A phone displays one message: "I'm downstairs." - while someone watches from across the room.

068. A server places an envelope beside the glass. - while someone watches from across the room.

069. The character walks in while everyone is already seated. - while someone watches from across the room.

070. A bag on the chair is not theirs. - while someone watches from across the room.

071. A stranger waves like they already know each other. - while someone watches from across the room.

072. The camera catches the character deleting a post. - while someone watches from across the room.

073. A notification changes the character's expression. - while someone watches from across the room.

074. A product arrives before its official launch. - while someone watches from across the room.

075. The character asks, "Who told you I was here?" - while someone watches from across the room.

© THE SCENE AI - Destyni Triplett. Member copy - not for resale or redistribution.

076. A hotel employee says, “Your other guest already checked in.” - while someone watches from across the room.

077. A stylist says, “That is not the outfit you’re wearing.” - while someone watches from across the room.

078. A client asks one question that stops the room. - while someone watches from across the room.

079. A door opens before anyone knocks. - while someone watches from across the room.

080. A car waits with the character’s name on the sign. - while someone watches from across the room.

081. “Excuse me, a guest asked me to bring this over.” - one minute before leaving.

082. The bill arrives already paid. - one minute before leaving.

083. Someone off-camera says the character’s full name. - one minute before leaving.

084. The elevator opens to the wrong floor. - one minute before leaving.

085. A friend whispers, “Do not turn around.” - one minute before leaving.

086. The character is holding something they did not order. - one minute before leaving.

087. A phone displays one message: “I’m downstairs.” - one minute before leaving.

088. A server places an envelope beside the glass. - one minute before leaving.

089. The character walks in while everyone is already seated. - one minute before leaving.

090. A bag on the chair is not theirs. - one minute before leaving.

091. A stranger waves like they already know each other. - one minute before leaving.

092. The camera catches the character deleting a post. - one minute before leaving.

093. A notification changes the character’s expression. - one minute before leaving.

094. A product arrives before its official launch. - one minute before leaving.

095. The character asks, “Who told you I was here?” - one minute before leaving.

096. A hotel employee says, “Your other guest already checked in.” - one minute before leaving.

097. A stylist says, “That is not the outfit you’re wearing.” - one minute before leaving.

098. A client asks one question that stops the room. - one minute before leaving.

099. A door opens before anyone knocks. - one minute before leaving.

100. A car waits with the character’s name on the sign. - one minute before leaving.

101. “Excuse me, a guest asked me to bring this over.” - and the audience only sees the reaction.

© THE SCENE AI - Destyni Triplett. Member copy - not for resale or redistribution.

102. The bill arrives already paid. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

103. Someone off-camera says the character's full name. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

104. The elevator opens to the wrong floor. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

105. A friend whispers, "Do not turn around." - and the audience only sees the reaction.

106. The character is holding something they did not order. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

107. A phone displays one message: "I'm downstairs." - and the audience only sees the reaction.

108. A server places an envelope beside the glass. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

109. The character walks in while everyone is already seated. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

110. A bag on the chair is not theirs. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

111. A stranger waves like they already know each other. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

112. The camera catches the character deleting a post. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

113. A notification changes the character's expression. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

114. A product arrives before its official launch. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

115. The character asks, "Who told you I was here?" - and the audience only sees the reaction.

116. A hotel employee says, "Your other guest already checked in." - and the audience only sees the reaction.

117. A stylist says, "That is not the outfit you're wearing." - and the audience only sees the reaction.

118. A client asks one question that stops the room. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

119. A door opens before anyone knocks. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

120. A car waits with the character's name on the sign. - and the audience only sees the reaction.

© THE SCENE AI - Destyni Triplett. Member copy - not for resale or redistribution.

NEXT STEP

Go to THE WORLD BUILDER — Modules 05 to 12

© THE SCENE AI - Destyni Triplett. Member copy - not for resale or redistribution.

SHARE YOUR WORLD.

Post your episodes with #THESCENEAI so your work gets seen.
New scene drops, packs and tools land every month inside

THE SCENE AI

THE SCENE AI

© THE SCENE AI - Destyni Triplett. Member copy - not for resale or redistribution.