Mystery

- › Now who sent this over...
- › At this point, whoever sent it needs to come out of hiding.
- › How are you this bold but scared to say something?
- › I came for lunch. Apparently somebody else had plans.
- › The plot was never random. Y'all just got here late.

Story Series

- › Part [#], because y'all were not letting this go.
- › Still no reveal, but now I'm invested.
- › This was supposed to be the calm part of the trip.
- › The next five minutes changed the whole storyline.
- › Some people do not need an introduction.

Creator / AI

- › I almost did not post the first one. Now y'all are asking who the characters are.
- › The moment people stopped asking if it was AI and started asking what happened next.
- › We do not just prompt. We direct.
- › I built the character, the camera and the entire situation from my phone.
- › New to AI? The SCENE AI starts with the character, not the tool.

Education

- › I'mma be real, we are not skipping the foundation.
- › The part everybody calls boring is usually the part protecting the client.
- › You do not need to feel ready. You need the right room.
- › Before we talk about the result, we need to talk about the process.

- › A pretty outcome does not excuse an unsafe process.

| Brand-Friendly

- › A concept built around the product, not pasted on top of it.
- › This is what branded storytelling can look like.
- › The product belongs inside the plot.
- › A campaign people watch before they realize it is a campaign.
- › Chicago / Atlanta brands, picture your business inside the next scene.
